County's size a major challenge: minister

➤ Tour of Haliburton reveals transportation issues to provincial minister

Jenn Watt
Editor

Haliburton County's problem isn't that it doesn't have programs, services and infrastructure for children and families – it's that those aids are situated so far from one another, Ontario's minister of children and youth says.

On a tour of the county along with local MPP Rick Johnson, Laurel Broten had a chance to speak with workers at Point in Time, the Children's Aid Society and YWCA about the challenges faced in this community.

The primary concern she heard was the Highlands' wide-open spaces.

"How do we help families achieve the best outcomes for their kids when the distances to travel are far? When the services are not next door?" Broten said during a brief interview with local media at the Kosy Korner Oct. 14.

"We need to understand: how do you get the services out to the front lines in a community like this one? And that is critically important to me," she said.

Broten is one of several ministers that has visited the riding of Haliburton-Kawartha Lakes-

Highlands East man charged with possession

On Oct. 10, Bancroft OPP were conducting a RIDE (Reduce Impaired Driving Everywhere) check on South Baptiste Lake Road in the Municipality of Hastings Highlands.

A vehicle operated by an adult male stopped and officers detected the odour of marijuana from the vehicle. As a result of an investigation a quantity of marijuana was located and seized. A 42-year-old male of Monmouth Township has been charged with possession of a controlled substance, contrary to the Controlled Drugs and Substances Act. The male was not taken into custody and is scheduled to appear in Bancroft court.

Theft on Manhire Drive

On Oct. 4, the Bancroft detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police received the report of a break and enter on Manhire Drive in the Municipality of Highlands East. Investigation revealed that a shed had been forcibly entered. No property has been reported stolen.

While checking the surrounding area, a second residence was located with an insecure shed. The shed had been forcibly entered and a weed eater has been reported stolen.

Leaf fire extinguished

The Dysart Fire Department responded to a fire on Oct. 10 on Caterpillar Road when a small fire was left unattended and spread to the surrounding leaves. The fire was controlled until the fire department arrived and they extinguished it. The fire department reminds people that the burning regulations are in effect until Oct. 31, and that the leaves are extremely dry right now so extra caution must be taken.

Bessie Sullivan

Last July I wrote about how the romance novel is crossing over into other genres. I went on a cruise in 2008 where I read every time travel romance I could get my hands on. I came to the following conclusion:
There are two categories of these kinds of books, the first simply uses the time travel to get people from different eras together with little research or regard for the details in how it all happens.
The Highlander series by Karen Marie Moning is a good example of this.
In the second category, the author has actually done a huge amount of research so that when the character travels back in time we actually get a sense for the time, mood, sound, and touch of the era.
Two series that exemplify this are:
Diana Gabaldon: Outlander Series
by Michelle G. Jones, Brandt Miller, and Jennifer L. Armentrout

Minister of Children and Youth Services Laurel Broten laughs with local MPP Rick Johnson at the Kosy Korner Thursday afternoon.

Broten meets with front-line workers

Brock in the past few months, but is the only one who has made it all the way to this county.

The knowledge she gained from talking to service providers here will help her make decisions in her role at Queen's Park – which also includes being the minister responsible for women's issues and heading up the poverty reduction strategy for the province. To address some of the issues facing families here, Broten cited the government's child benefit and all-day kindergarten as prime examples of how policy would impact lives.

She noted that other government programs not specifically labelled as "poverty reduction" do pull people up, such as the second career initiative and elearnnetwork.ca, both delivered in part through Fleming College. When asked whether the poverty reduction strategy would be addressing rural issues as distinct from urban ones, Broten was unsure.

Both she and Johnson reiterated that much of the rural dilemma is inadequate transportation tying services and citizens together.

"It's nice that you can have a skateboard park right here at the bottom of the hill, but if you can't get to it ... it's part of a bigger issue. It was raised this morning [at Point In Time] as a challenge for area youth," Johnson said.

Broten also praised the local Children's Aid Society for being in good fiscal shape and working so closely with other service providers to bridge the geographic gaps.

Winterfest awards unveiled

➤ Engraved glass design by local artists Terry Craig and Jennifer Wanless-Craig

The organizers of Winterfest 2011 are celebrating more than just sport as they have enlisted the creativity and skill of local artists for the production of the athletes' awards.

Marci Mandel and the special events committee through the Haliburton Arts Council chose Tory Hill artists Terry Craig and Jennifer Wanless-Craig of Artech Glassblowing Studios from four submissions.

"We are excited to be a part of this venture. As artists, it is always wonderful to be recognized as a business that can work in conjunction with this type of event-art and sports. Haliburton is a great place that understands that these partnership are possible," said Craig of Artech Glassblowing Studios.

The glass circular awards, engraved with the snowman event logo in the centre, Winterfest 2011 underneath and Ontario Senior Games along the top were on display at the organizing office in Haliburton this Friday.

Artech will be busy in the months leading up to the games producing the 450 awards as they can only produce six of the glass awards a day.

"Haliburton County is renown as a hockey and an arts

2009 a year of growth for construction

Darren Lum
Staff reporter

The following are briefs for the Dysart et al council meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 12.

Dysart et al is finding reason for optimism after a growth in construction this past year up until September, despite the economic downturn.

The value of permits were close to $26 million, which was more than the $19,596,500 the year before for the period ending in September.

"I thought it was very positive," Reeve Murray Fearrey said. "Positive in the sense it's an economic turnaround we have been in for a year and we're holding our own in a three year average, which is pretty positive for the construction industry."

The building permit numbers jumped, growing by nine permits compared to the year before for the period ending September. There were 247 that were issued, which was just shy of the 250 in 2008.

Council supports sign request

Council is supporting for a business community sign at the entranceway of Industrial Park Road business community.

Fearrey said council does not want a sign that will have every business listed, but is supportive of a sign that will represent the area.

"We'd like to see a larger sign that indicates the industrial park area," he said, adding he will work with the business owners, particularly Lise Ainsley, who has spearheaded the idea.

Dysart received the request after the county of Haliburton received a letter and petition signed by several area business owners for "improved signage" at the entrance.

Fearrey, who was appreciative to the county for asking since it is under their jurisdiction, said a formal decision by the county can be expected in a few weeks.

Monthly fire report

There were no fire calls for the Dysart Fire Department for the month of September.

The total number of calls received was back to the monthly normal, which was 20 calls, including five motor vehicle accidents.

Expect new fire safety messages to be broadcasted on Canoe FM with the message: Smoke alarms a sound you can live with.

2010 events calendar becomes inclusive

Council has agreed to continue with the partnership on the events calendar that the Arts Council-Haliburton Highlands started last year.

The focus of the calendar will continue to support municipal events that promote the arts, culture and heritage in the Highlands.

Last year's mail out resulted in a 712 per cent increase in distribution compared to the year before and reached 28,500 households.

Winter senior games update

Myke Malone of the Winterfest 2011 Ontario Senior Games, which is scheduled for Feb. 15-17, 2011, gave an update to council and received approval for a fee waiver of the Dysart Community Centre and Dysart arena.

"Our success will be your successes so we're very much looking forward to delivering what we feel will be the best set of games the province has ever seen," said Malone.

With 10 winter sports, the event will boast more than 900 athletes, including more than 2,000 coaches, volunteers and spectators. The three-day event in Haliburton County will showcase The Amazing Kreskin in the closing ceremonies.

Volunteers are needed and applications are available at the games office in Haliburton, municipal offices throughout the county and online at www.winterfest2011.com.

New sculpture pays tribute to former local politician

Angelica Blenich Echo staff

Local artist Mary Anne Barkhouse, right, gives Diana Ferguson a hand with three-month-old Charlie in the Haliburton Sculpture Forest on Oct. 14. Barkhouse will begin work on a new sculpture to be added to the forest on the large rock pictured, in memory of Ferguson's late husband Alan.

Angelica Blenich
Staff reporter

Alan Ferguson loved his dogs.

A former councillor in the municipality of Dysart et al, the late Ferguson trusted his beloved golden retrievers so much that he even promoted one to campaign manager during his bid for a seat on council.

"He believed that Barney helped get him elected," explained Diana Ferguson, Alan's wife. "He had a wonderful love affair with both our golden retrievers."

Ferguson was first elected councillor of Ward 2 in Dysart et al in 1997 and served until 2000. Elected councillor again in 2003, Ferguson passed away in 2006 before the end of his term.

In memory of Ferguson, a new sculpture in the image of an Irish wolfhound is set to make the Haliburton Sculpture Forest its home come next June with the help of local artist Mary Anne Barkhouse.

Barb Bolin, chairwoman of the forest's board of directors, and curator Jim Blake, announced plans for the sculpture at Fleming College on Oct. 14.

"This is an exciting day," said Bolin. "People come to enjoy the forest from all over the world."

"This year we are thrilled to add a local sculpture."

Tears began to form and Bolin was overcome with emotion, choosing to let Blake continue with the description of the sculpture.

"Alan was so passionate about the arts," said Blake. "Diana thought nothing would be more fitting than a sculpture in memory of her husband."

According to Blake, Diana fell in love with Barkhouse's work and was immediately committed to the local artist.

"We had gone through a couple of ideas," said Barkhouse, "and then I came up with an old and iconic story about a man and his dog that holds a special meaning to this county."

The dog Barkhouse is referring to is that of Gelert (or Cylart to use his proper Welsh name), an immortalized Irish wolfhound of which the hamlet of Gelert in Haliburton County finds its origin in name.

The history of Gelert can be traced back to a famous poem by William Robert Spencer titled Beth-Gelert, in which the tragic relationship of a heroic dog named Gelert and his master, the Welsh Prince Llywelyn the Great, ends when the faithful hound is killed based upon an erroneous interpretation of fact.

Although embellished by Spencer, the ballad is based upon documented events taking place in 1210.

"One of the reasons I chose the Irish wolfhound is because it is an ancient breed and an iconic dog," explained Barkhouse. "To me it represents sensibility and I wanted to put this into the idea of 'dog'."

"This will be the largest single bronze sculpture I have ever done. Essentially I'm rewriting the story of Beth-Gelert to have a better ending."

According to Barkhouse, "the proposed bronze sculpture situated within a wooded setting would lend itself to more universal interpretations. Not only would it acknowledge the long association between man and dog, speaking of dedication and loyalty, but additionally it would, through the aspect of the figure of the hound, be a sentinel within the forest, watchful, companionable and protective, advocating careful consideration and rational thought."

For Blake, the story of Gelert is significant to the history of Haliburton County.

"It is the 800th anniversary of when the story of that prince and dog took place," said Blake. "It's an international story. It's about more than just a dog. It's about the relationship we have with our animals."

"It's about the idea of animals looking out for us."

And just like Barney was looking out for Alan during his election campaign many years ago, the new sculpture will be looking out for Diana, in memory of her beloved husband.

The bronze dog will be unveiled to the public in June, "when the weather in Haliburton is fabulous and there are no black flies," said Blake.

The sculpture was made possible through a donation by Diana in celebration of the life of Alan

Ferguson and with the support of the Ontario Trillium Foundation, the Haliburton County Development Corporation, Cauldron Drugs and Business for the Arts.

Why I won't vote (until Oct. 25)

EVEN THOUGH I've been able to vote now for weeks, I'm holding on to my ballot.

It's sitting safely tucked in between bills and old magazines on my desk, waiting for me to make up my mind, check the appropriate box and drop it back in the mail.

But I'm not going to. I'm going to hold onto my ballot until the very end – until the morning of the last day of this municipal election when I will walk it into the Dysart municipal office.

It just seems premature to make my selection before every candidate has had a chance to say everything that she or he is going to say on an issue.

If I had voted as soon as I was able, I wouldn't have known of the Bill Davis/Janis Parker dispute and both sides' explanation of what happened.

(Davis took out ads on Canoe FM criticizing Parker's campaign letters, some geared to the seasonal population, others for locals.)

I also wouldn't have been able to read over candidates' election statements in the paper.

And I'm still holding out hope that one of the candidates in my ward will do an interview with the Echo to help me decide whether he's a serious prospect or not. (If we do hear from John Smith this week, the story will be on haliburtonecho.ca.)

I don't want to vote now only to regret it when a candidate announces a new campaign promise or reveals a distasteful position on something dear to my heart.

Jenn Watt
Editor

Perhaps if the municipality issued a "do-over" ballot I would feel better about voting right away.

I could vote on the day I got my voter kit, but as the campaign period progressed, if something changed my mind I'd submit my do-over ballot.

It'd be an administrative mess – which is why the idea is ridiculous – but it's the only way I'd feel comfortable marking my X that early.

There are good reasons to have mail-in ballots (especially for the seasonal population, who could not be expected to drive up from their city homes just to vote), but for those of us in town and paying attention, voting late makes sense.

Moose on the loose

RIGHT NOW, hundreds of hunters are scouring the woods of Haliburton County in hopes of doing battle with a moose. They're also hoping that they win that battle.

I know it seems like such a cut and dried proposition – the hunter and his high-powered rifle versus the unarmed, unsuspecting moose. And, I suppose, if it were merely a gunfight, most times the hunter would win.

But the thing that some non-hunters fail to consider is that the moose has the full extent of the law on its side. And since we are talking about Canadian fish and game laws, the moose can expect leniency.

First off, the hunters in question are not allowed to shoot just any moose. No, they need to have the right moose in their crosshairs.

If the hunter has a bull tag, for instance, it needs to be a bull moose. If the hunter has a cow tag, it must be a cow moose.

If they have neither of those adult tags, they can only take a calf moose. Again, all this sounds very simple.

But the reality is this; the mere act of owning a bull tag ups the odds – by as much as 17,000 per cent – of seeing cows and calves only.

Then again if you merely possess a cow tag, you will, quite naturally, only see bulls – and huge ones at that.

Oh, and if you just have a calf tag in your wallet, which is the bare minimum when you buy a moose licence, you'll see a veritable parade of bulls and cows throughout the hunt.

Last, if your group is lucky enough to possess all three types of tags, you'll see deer – these, by the way, are the ones you won't see in deer season.

Moose seem to know this too.

That bull that sauntered into the meadow a mere 30 yards away, the one that flexed his muscles and let the sun glisten off of his horns? He tested the air for a palpable sense of frustration and determined that you only had a cow tag.

Even though the tag system seems to be stacked heavily in favour of the game, we hunters don't mind all that much.

After all, most of us are there for the challenge, the opportunity to once again be out in the woods and the camaraderie of camp.

Bringing home a bit of moose meat is the bonus.

Yet there are some moose hunters who, through luck or good management, get a moose each season.

But it takes some time to determine who they are. That's because, on first blush, a lot of moose hunters will act like they are experts.

The acid test, however, is the meat. A good moose hunter will have a freezer full of the stuff.

The rest are merely talking bull.

Running faster

PEOPLE EBBED AND FLOWED on the sidewalk, barely glancing at the diners close enough to touch. Trevor sat at a miniscule table with two of his old school buddies, soaking up the autumn sunshine along with the city vibe. Although he loved living in the country, he had to admit to every now and then to enjoying his “city fix” as he called it.

His buddies, Matt and Joe, could not believe Trevor actually liked living in the boonies. “Like, what do you do for excitement Trev?” they frequently asked.

Today he thought he’d give them something to mull over. After ordering his second espresso, Trevor leaned back in his chair and said, “Well guys, want to hear about my latest backwoods adventure?”

To this Joe piped up with false enthusiasm, “Oh yea man, if you don’t think it will be too much excitement for one afternoon!”

One Sunday in late July, when the descending sun had thrown lengthening shadows across the road, Matt headed out for his daily run. It had been a hot one so he had waited until the air cooled. Anyone who knew Trevor was aware that he liked to run at least five kilometres every day and sometimes more if he could manage it. On this particular early evening he had

Sharon Lynch
Down our Road

Lou with him. Lou was a new convert to running and Trevor sometimes ran with him for encouragement and company. It didn’t bother Trevor that he had to slow his pace for Lou.

The two men had been out for about 10 minutes and had fallen into a nice rhythmic stride together. Sometimes they talked but tonight they both seemed to be enjoying the quiet. The worst of the day’s heat was over. Every once in a while a vehicle would pass by, stirring up a cloud of dust. But generally there was little traffic on this dirt road. The sun hung like a burnished copper disk above the tree line and now and then Trevor would get a whiff of the lake just out of sight.

Trevor knew the area well, having enjoyed his family’s cottage here before buying a small house. Since boyhood he had picked raspberries in the ditches, looked for turtles and beavers in the marsh and watched hawks circle high in clear summer skies.

His thoughts were elsewhere when he was startled to realize something was happening to his right, on the road’s shoulder. Turning his head automatically at the sound, he locked eyes, for the briefest of seconds, with a black bear. It was climbing up the embankment just as Trevor and Lou passed by. Everyone was surprised.

Trevor’s first instinct was to freeze, followed almost immediately with the urge to get out of there as fast as he could. Out of the corner of his eye he saw Lou stumble, then regain his balance as he swore softly. Don’t panic; think, Trevor told himself. But it was hard. Just as in a car accident when events seem to go into slow motion, reality now changed for Trevor. However instead of slowing down, Trevor’s brain went into overdrive. All the stories he had heard over the years about dealing with a bear in the woods crowded into his head. Front and centre were the words, “Don’t look the bear in the eye.” But it was too late for that advice.

So Trevor did the only thing he could. “Don’t stop, just keep running Lou,” he told his friend, picking up the pace. Without a backward glance, the men hastened along the side of that dirt road, praying a car would come by, praying something – anything, would come along. They were so vulnerable, so alone.

Now they were running full out, knowing this went against all they had heard. Don’t try to out-run a bear. To his right Trevor saw the bear running along the ditch. It was even with the men, its body rippling like black waves, its legs moving two and two. Then it was passing them, still running hard. In disbelief they watched as it ran another 50 yards before making a dash for the trees. And it was gone.

Matt and Joe sat transfixed on their café chairs as Trevor leaned back in his, trying to decide if he really wanted a third espresso. “And so ...” coaxed Joe, waiting for the finale.

“That’s the end boys,” smiled Trevor. “Bet you can’t top that one.” He was right.

Dying for a pool

To the Editor,

So it’s elections and all I’m hearing about is ranting about the “folly” of having a community swimming pool.

I live right on a river and I, for one, would LOVE to have a swimming pool! I have a preschooler and my niece, who frequently visits from Brampton, is five-and-a-half years old. I tried to take them swimming this past summer – it was not successful.

When we tried swimming in the river, the water is far too shallow until the bottom suddenly drops out. The footing is all small, round, roll-y rocks – my daughter nearly drowned when the rocks rolled under her feet and pitched her head-first into the water. Only her above-average size kept her from being swept away instantly by the current so I was granted the few seconds necessary to reach over and pull her back out.

At the lakes we tried, the water was either too cold or else it was lovely and warm but full of “stuff” – nothing like leeches to enhance a city child’s country experience! I just about went out of my mind trying to monitor both children at once – while at the same time keeping an eye out for rambunctious dogs, zooming watercraft (and the consequent waves slapping us in the face), and reassuring the city child that it was only a fish – “Just a fish!” – as she gasped and sputtered her way to the safe shoreline.

Swim lessons? Sure – IF we want to drive all the way to Halls Lake (wherever that is)!

And then there’s the winter: not much fun swim-

Reeve candidate clarifies meeting comments

To the Editor,

I probably couldn’t have made a response worse than the one I gave at the Cardiff meeting re volunteering I have been involved with in the past few years. To clarify a couple of points, first, the question referred to activity since 2001. I was fully employed and travelling extensively at that time with little opportunities to contribute until 2007.

Since that time I have been helping out in any several activities in the community including:

1. Worked on the Wilberforce school project “When we were young” with the students for several months.
2. Did the horse pull announcing with the Wilberforce agriculture organization this year.
3. Currently on the executive of the Royal Canadian Legion serving as chairman for the Poppy Fund and chairman of sports.
4. Currently involved in self-administered project to bring added health services to Highlands East and will continue this project regardless of outcome of the election.

ming in the winter, I can assure you. I am on a serious weight-loss régime if I want to avoid an artificial hip before I'm 50 and my mother has fibromyalgia.

For both of us, aquarobics would be a godsend, however, because I'm not a senior, I don't qualify for the available program I've seen advertised.

I doubt we're the only ones with these problems, either.

Plenty of talk about the plethora of seniors and disabled in our area – am I seriously being told none of them would benefit from a pool that's a bit closer to the actual population centres?

Oh – there's a pool in Cardiff (wherever that is, thank gods for Google).

I only just heard through last week's paper that the Pinestone Resort has a pool, too – I didn't even know they had one.

Granted, this letter reflects the current state of my knowledge of how things are - maybe there actually are lots of available swimming pools but, if so, why are they not being promoted?

If they're not promoted, people won't know about them and won't use them and the money doesn't come in and voila – you have a money pit and a losing business.

YES, we need a pool!

Not all people, tourist or otherwise, want to experience squidgey, oozy mush between the toes or the delight of sand in the butt crack or mud thrown in the kids' eyes or learning the art of burning leeches off with salt.

Many people just want to go, get their 30-minute cardio session in, get the kids taught not to drown, get an hour's family R&R in without worrying about Swimmer's Itch and muck in the car and wet car seats and a stinky dog huffing down the back of your neck all the way home.

The great pool debate lacks a few crucial elements, like clear facts and figures

To the Editor,

I have been watching with interest the debate about having the taxpayers supply a swimming pool to what must be a small percentage of the population.

There are a number of things that confuse me.

The largest of which is how can you have a debate with basically no facts such as how much would it cost to build a pool? (Not it will cost each taxpayer more.) How much, $2,000,000, $3,000,000? How much? How much will it cost to maintain? Haliburton does not have city water, so where does the water come from?

It was recently announced that there will be a new subdivision at Percy Lake.

I believe between Haliburton Lake and Percy Lake there will be 22 kilometres of roads. The township will not take over these roads for winter ploughing or gen-

I have had an interesting bit of advice for people who are told they are going onto Smart Meters. It says, when they put you on, do nothing differently until you see your first two new bills. Then start to do the things they suggest will save you money.

To the Editor,

I would suggest to Mr. Davis that his comments about Janis Parker are disrespectful and mean.

Although his signs state that "experience counts," his comments would indicate that his experience does not include tact and respect for others and action. Ms.

Famous relative inspires 'voice' of the Highlands

While it might be hard to name a person who represents the "face" of the Highlands, putting a face to the "voice" of the Highlands is somewhat easier, and Dave Allen of Canoe FM gets the nod.

Sixty-seven per cent of Highlanders listen, at least part of the time to Canoe, which refers to itself as the collective voice of the county; but residents have heard Allen's distinctive tones on so many occasions extolling the virtues of various local businesses, that his is the individual voice of note.

George Farrell
Interesting people

Dave Allen was born and raised in Montreal. He received an education in hotel management in upstate New York before moving to Toronto in 1971. During his stay in the city, he helped to open the Four Seasons Hotel (now the Sheraton Centre). Allen continued in the hospitality business in sales and marketing, working on behalf of such well-known establishments as the Inn on the Park and the Hyatt in Toronto, and the Four Seasons in Calgary.

"I remember when the Four Seasons was still basically a family-run enterprise, and now it's the No. 1 luxury chain in the world," he says.

Allen worked in hotels up until 1980 when he started his own business called Distinctive Hotels and Resorts Inc. It was a business that steered clients to some of the top resorts and hotels in North America. Allen continued with that basic concept for six years, and then changed streams to concentrate more on "working for clients to negotiate on their behalf with unique hotels, resorts and convention centres anywhere in the world, including Deerhurst in the Muskokas and the Pinestone, in Hali-burton."

"I became familiar with the Muskokas, but fell in love with Haliburton," he says. "It was just the friendliness of the people."

By 1994, Dave Allen started coming to the Highlands regularly on weekends. He initially stayed with friends, but his weekends started getting longer and longer. "I just didn't want to go home," he says; and in 2002 he made the move to live here permanently.

"I'd had enough of the rat race, but I needed to find a way of making a living here," he recalls, citing the refrain heard many times over by new residents. Allen found work in cottage maintenance, but he made very little money, and the work was hard, and sometimes dirty.

In July of 2007 he answered an ad for a sales job at the Canoe FM radio station. He filled in his application, but nothing happened for a while. Several months later Canoe FM founder Don Cameron called.

"At the time of Don's call I was knee-deep in mud, digging a heat-line trench. Don asked me if I was still interested in the job. I was ecstatic, and told him I'd be right over. I went to the interview covered in mud, and they asked me if I had any other clothes," Allen says with a hearty laugh.

Dave loves his job as the advertising sales rep at Canoe, but he also fills in, wherever he's needed. "Initially I was vacuuming, doing dump runs, which I still do, and going over to Dover Springs for water," he says. Allen has done many other things including helping out with the Santa Claus parades and slogging through snow drifts to take workers to the transmission tower during breakdowns. "And I'm still available 24/7 for emergencies," he assures.

Allen started to do on-air location work, in addition to his day-to-day sales job, and he found he liked that end of things, and was good at it. He now also does voice-overs on commercials, and he prides himself on giving customers the same amount of attention whether they're spending hundreds, or thousands of dollars, and whether their businesses are in Haliburton, Minden, or anywhere else in the county. "I write most of the ad copy, too," Allen says, and for that he gets inspiration from an amazing source.

"On my mother's side I'm a blood relation to Samuel Clemens, better known as Mark Twain," he reveals, "and that inspires me when I'm writing copy. I just enjoy the whole process of sitting down with a client. I listen very carefully, and that enables me to understand their needs, to write an effective script and record the voice-over."

Allen's family is important to him and he's especially proud of 23-year-old daughter, Chelsey, who lives in West Vancouver and graduated from UBC last spring. She is now writing her MBA and considering a law career. Chelsey was also a Victory Medal host at the 2010 Winter Olympic Games in Vancouver.

When Dave Allen is at home he enjoys his hobby of cooking comfort food, and his chili recipe won second prize at the Minden Winterfest Annual Chile Competition. But while he enjoys good food, Allen lives and breathes Canoe.

"It's just so gratifying when a customer tells me that their campaign worked because of Canoe," says Allen. "That's ultimately what you want to hear."

Dave Allen hears quite a bit from satisfied customers, and you can hear a lot of Dave Allen on Canoe FM.

Identity theft and fraud more common than people realize

Angelica Blenich
Staff reporter

Financial scams such as identity theft and fraud can happen to anybody living anywhere, even in a small town like Haliburton.

A presentation made by financial consultant Cindy Trapp of Investors Group at the Chamber of Commerce breakfast held on Oct. 14 at the Minden Legion outlined some of the common misunderstandings and misconceptions that lead people to becoming victims of these crimes.

"How many of you here can give me your social insurance card," asked Trapp at the beginning of the presentation.

While those in attendance were hesitant to hand over their card, many admitted to not even carrying such personal documents with them.

Cindy Trapp presented at the chamber breakfast last week.

"I'm glad to see you didn't fall for my trick," said Trapp, "and that most of you know enough to not carry a card like this or your birth certificate on you. It's documents like these that make it easy for people to steal your identity or gain access to your financial information."

According to Trapp, identity theft and investment fraud are on the rise for a number of reasons, including the economic recession.

"In Canada in 2007, an estimated 1.7 million Canadian adults were the victims of some kind of identity fraud. That amounts to almost 6.5 per cent of the adult Canadian population. It is also estimated that these victims spent approximately 20 million hours and a staggering $150 million plus to resolve problems associated with these frauds," said Trapp during her presentation, referencing information from a 2008 consumer survey titled Measuring Identity Theft in Canada.

There are a number of ways to prevent fraud from happening to you, said Trapp. Tips include frequently changing account passwords, checking your credit report, not giving out your social insurance number, protecting your computer, keeping track of billing cycles, examining financial statements, guarding your mail from theft, investing in a shredder and practising safe shopping, especially when it comes to online shopping.

Following Trapp's presentation, a number of those in attendance shared experiences of instances of identity theft or fraud that had happened to them. Many of the examples included phone-call scams, cyber crimes or issues with stolen credit card information.

"Many people think things like this only happen in bigger cities," said Trapp. "The truth is it can happen in a place like Haliburton to anyone."

The next chamber of commerce breakfast is scheduled to take place on Nov. 4 at Bonnie View Inn.

Bark Lake plan changes

Angelica Blenich
Staff reporter

The following are brief reports of items discussed at the Oct. 12 meeting of Highlands East council.

The proposed developments to be built on Bark Lake have been amended and were approved at a public meeting held on Oct. 12. According to the municipality, the Bark Lake lands were the subject of a prior zoning amendment in 2006. At that time, the lands were approved for a recreational-based community comprised of 48 detached dwellings, 63 semi-detached dwellings, a hotel, as well as ancilliary facilities such as a restaurant, community centre and communal docking and beach areas.

The owner has now revised the development proposal to be comprised of 95 lots for recreational dwellings. This change to the development proposal requires a zoning change given that the layout, number and type of dwelling units has changed.

John Ariens addressed council on behalf of Century Lane Developments, outlining the reason for the changes.

"We realized we were too aggressive with our original numbers," said Ariens. "Thus we've downscaled to 95 lots, however, the same studies remain in effect."

Bark Lake, which is situated in the township of Glamorgan, is surrounded by Crown land.

To date no letters of support or objections have been received by the municipality.

A bylaw regarding the development amendments will be passed at a later date.

Horseshoe Days performance report

Many of those involved with organizing Gooderham Horseshoe Days heard firsthand a final assessment of this year's event, along with recommendations for the future. Presented by CAO Sharon Stoughton-Craig, the performance report included an overview of the financial statements along with an assessment of the event's success.

"From what I saw on the budget statements was that estimated revenues were high," said Stoughton-Craig.

"My recommendation is that council appoint the committee in the future. I also suggest that there be a council liaison who is fully involved. The budget must be approved by council. Ultimately it is council that is responsible and caution must be taken. We must realize there are only so many people to support these events."

The topic of Gooderham Horseshoe Days was raised at the September meeting of council with Stoughton-Craig announcing this year's event lost $14,000. The report had been deferred to October.

"This was a new thing that was done this year," said Deputy-reeve Jim Mackie. "It could have been worse. It's a volunteer-based event and I think it went off fairly well despite glitches. I think they did a good job."

"It's easier to criticize than it is to help," said Councillor Gary Stoughton.

Following her recommendations, Stoughton-Craig informed council she would go through the municipality's budget to search out funds to cover the costs.

Boy's illness inspires family to run stem cell clinic

Jenn Watt
Editor

On the day Haliburton hosts its first OneMatch clinic, collecting saliva samples for its bone marrow registry, 14-year-old Liam Jefferson will be starting his first day of chemotherapy at Toronto's Sick Kids Hospital for myelodysplasia, or preleukemia.

Son of Anne Jefferson (Broersma), grandson of Joyce and Andy Broersma of Minden and nephew of Maggie and Jean Broersma of West Guilford and Haliburton respectively, Liam's diagnosis in May led the family to organize special clinics in Minden and Haliburton to widen the donor pool for people like Liam, whose lives depend on bone marrow transplants.

"You never know when this is going to hit your family," Jean Broersma said Friday.

"If we can help somebody, five years from now or 10 years from now" it will be worth it, she said.

After being diagnosed, Liam looked to his family for a marrow match, but neither his brothers nor his parents were suitable donors.

According to Canadian Blood Services, 70 per cent of those needing a marrow transplant must look to an unrelated donor. There are currently 777 people on the waiting list for transplants, Jean said.

In August, the family turned to the bone marrow registry - onematch.ca - which has a pool of 262,000 potential donors in Canada and a worldwide list of about 14 million.

Incredibly, a match was quickly found and Liam was booked for chemotherapy to ready his body for the marrow transplant.

"The chances of a match - it usually takes a long time - if a match is found at all," Jean said.

But even though Liam has a match, the Broersmas still want to broaden the registry so others have a wait just as brief as they did. While blood donation is a well-known procedure, the OneMatch swab process is something less understood by the wider population.

The swab process is entirely painless, requiring just four mouth swabs, which are entered into the Canadian registry.

Liam Jefferson, grandson of Andy and Joyce Broersma, inspired his family to run a OneMatch clinic after being diagnosed with preleukemia.

Antigen information (proteins on the surface of blood cells) from the swabs helps OneMatch, which is a program of Canadian Blood Services, identify potential donors of bone marrow and stem cells (collected from the blood) at a future date.

Participating in the clinic means potential donors are added to a list and if someone needs their marrow or blood in the future, they are contacted and further tests are done. Being listed on the registry means you commit to donating, but it is not an obligation to do so if you change your mind later.

Although the Broersma family has always donated blood, the OneMatch process was something new to them, Jean said.

"It was an eyeopener for us," she said, "Stem cell [donation] was new to me - you always hear about it, but I didn't know how to do it."

Haliburton's OneMatch clinic will be held at the same time and place as the blood donor clinic: Monday, Oct. 25 at the Haliburton Legion from 12:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. There will be another in Minden on Monday, Nov. 8 at the Community Centre from 2:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. For more information, contact Tracey Gilbert at 286-4906 or Jean Broersma at 457-9117. Hawks stave off Spartans offensive surge

Haliburton hangs on to victory, finding momentum for playoffs

Darren Lum
Staff reporter

The junior girls' basketball team is positioning themselves well for a playoff berth with their second win in a row after defeating the visiting Lindsay Collegiate Vocational Institute Spartans 26-21 on Tuesday, Oct. 12.

It's the first victory over the Spartans in at least a decade, head coach Sharon Dibblee said, smiling, who believes things are coming into place.

"They're fast. They're really fast and they're playing like a team so all of those things are paying off for us right now," she said.

This is their second win in a row and is using the momentum of victory for a recipe for success Dibblee added.

"It always helps. When they know they can [win]. When you keep losing you think I can't. Now they know they can so they are playing like they can and that makes a difference," she said. "A little bit more confidence on the floor a little less hesitation. That often is enough to beat the other teams."

A slow start for both squads resulted in a combined five points scored late in the first quarter.

Dibblee explained her team's shooting percentage was down from other games, particularly in the first quarter, but the defense was improved on the whole.

Haliburton turned that tide of inefficiency into a 14-4 scoring run from a combination of stifling defensive, led by the guard tandem of Casey Pringle and Kayla Gardiner, both barely taller than 5 feet, and forward Jessica Rider's six points.

The Red Hawks' offensive was abruptly halted at the end of halftime as they took a 16-7 score into the break.

The second half the Spartans found their stride, taking advantage of Haliburton turnovers, scoring a quick four points to draw within five points 16-11.

Haliburton regained their defensive focus when Red Hawks centre Jaimie Dack grabbed a defensive rebound, fighting for a loose ball, going to the ground, securing it from two Spartans players.

Although the Red Hawks didn't stop the Spartans scoring completely (even surrendering another two points) they seemed to be reducing the open looks and lanes, including an improvement on more scoring chances and open looks.

The Spartans scored eight unanswered points by the 3:46 mark of the third quarter, but Haliburton's offensive slump ended when guard Pringle stole a ball at the top of the key and turned the turnover into an easy bucket to increase the lead to three points 18-15.

Rider rejoined the scoring with a steal of her own that resulted in two points from a bank shot from the top of the key, answering a Spartans bucket 20-17.

As the minutes ticked by the Red Hawks appeared to grow stronger with continued defensive play from Pringle and Gardiner and buckets from forwards Bailey Walker and Megan LaPierre to distance them from the Spartans by seven points 24-17.

The Spartans though drew to within three points again (24-21) with less than four minutes and despite a missed chance at the free throw line to draw to within one when they had two foul shots.

With under a minute left in the game the Red Hawks had several chances, grabbing offensive rebounds for multiple scoring chances, but could not finish.

Despite the missed opportunities, the Spartans offense were just as ineffective down the stretch, hindered somewhat by the swarming Haliburton defense and could not erase the five-point deficit.

Haliburton won the game 26-21 and was led on the score sheet by Rider's eight points.

It was a subdued celebration for the team as if there was something more to accomplish. Haliburton won their previous game, beating St. Thomas Aquinas 40-19.

The win gives the Red Hawks two wins on the season and will host Brock High School on Tuesday, Oct. 19.

Road game summary

The juniors hit the scoreboard first in their game against the Fenelon Falls Secondary School (FFSS) Falcons on Thursday, Oct. 14.

At the end of the first quarter the score was 12-8 for FFSS.

Our strong defensive play frustrated the league powerhouse team and the score (15-9) was close at halftime, said head coach Sharon Dibblee.

HHSS came back sluggish after the break and the Falcons pulled away (26-9). With renewed energy in the fourth quarter, the Hawks put up 10 points on the scoreboard, but fell short, losing 39-19.

Red Hawks forward Bailey Walker grabs an offensive rebound during a home game against the LCVI Spartans on Tuesday, Oct. 12. Haliburton hung on for the win 26-21. They improved their record to 2-3.

Class of 2010 - HHSS Honours and Awards

Chad Ingram and Darren Lum
Staff reporters

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School celebrated the past year's academic achievements with two days of ceremony, highlighted by the presentation of the Governor General's Academic Medal to Kara Pogue from retired HHSS principal Gary Brohman on Saturday, Oct. 9.

Principal Dan Marsden said, "I want to congratulate, not just the winners, but everybody in the school ... The four years you're here and what you bring to our school makes us better because of the spirit that you bring to our school every day."

There were nearly 200 awards with a total value of almost $38,000 that were handed out to the school's graduates at the honours and awards ceremony on Oct. 9.

Hundreds of students were recognized for their academic achievements by the school and included retired teacher Walter Tose as presenter. He received a raucous standing ovation when principal Dan Marsden presented him with a gift from school staff and friends, starting on the preceding Friday with awards for perfect attendance and recognition of honours students.

Former HHSS principal Gary Brohman presents graduate Kara Pogue with the Governor General's Academic Medal for earning the highest academic standing of her class.

Unforgiving gridiron

➤ Haliburton remains winless, but not hopeless after 27-0 loss to visiting St. Mary's Thunder

Darren Lum
Staff reporter

The junior boys' Red Hawks football team is looking to wipe the slate clean after a disappointing game against the visiting St. Mary's Secondary School Thunder on a blustery Friday, Oct. 15.

Both coaches and players agree the time to get serious is long overdue and believe this will translate into a win, which has evaded the team for the season.

Captain George Charlebois thought his team played well against the strong Thunder squad, but believes there is room for improvement.

"We need to take it more seriously. I think we need to do better in practice and fix our mistakes," he said.

Some of those mistakes, particularly for this game, came in the form of penalties and turnovers, which resulted in one touchdown coming back and two touchdowns against.

Offensive coach Bruce Griffith agreed with his captain, but was noticeably frustrated, and thought his team had the potential to beat the Thunder if not for the fumbles and the penalties.

"I told the boys at the end [of this game] there is no more [time for] fun [at] practice. We have a lot of fun, playing around. It's going to be serious [from now on]. We're going to win on Thursday," he said, smiling, about the team's next road game against Norwood District High School. "That's it. No more screwing around."

The team's best player, Louis Ferracuti, remains off the score sheet this season and was tackled half a yard shy of his first touchdown.

Griffith said he promises Ferracuti will tally two touchdowns against Norwood.

Haliburton must win their next two games to have a mathematical playoff chance for a wildcard spot.

"There's still a chance," Griffith said with a smile.

Lady Red Hawks building upon small successes

➤ Senior basketball team continues to improve after each successive game coach said

Darren Lum
Staff reporter

The Red Hawks senior women's basketball team is taking things into perspective after losing against the Lindsay Collegiate Vocational Institute Spartans on Tuesday, Oct. 12.

Head coach Brett Caputo was positive about the loss and put things into perspective.

"That was a COSSA gold medalist team last year. They're very skilled, good shooters. Our team has been building on stuff, including the [exhibition] win last week against Gravenhurst. A lot of things have started to work out for us," he said, adding his team is competitive against most AA schools.

Caputo had set a goal of scoring 20 points against the Spartans' defence.

"We almost achieved that so we're really happy with that. All of our players have started to work on all the fundamentals that we've been going through so things are starting to look good."

The Red Hawks also managed to use the momentum of their recent victory to battle until the end of the game against the Spartans.

"They played hard. That is all we ask of them. Being such a new team [it's important] to play hard to the last [buzzer]," Caputo said.

With just five players who have played organized basketball before, the balance of the team is comprised of players brand new to the league and to team sports, said Caputo.

"The win last week against Gravenhurst for some of them was their first team sport win ever in their life," he said.

Red Hawks centre Jenna Dibblee, who scored nearly 50 per cent of the team's game total, finished with eight points.

Haliburton shooting guard Carly Shaw was out of the lineup with a concussion and is expected for the team's next home game this week.

They will host the I.E. Weldon Wildcats on Thursday, Oct. 21.

Road game update

Assistant coach Sharon Dibblee said the senior team played their best league game of the season and continue to improve each game despite a tough loss to the Fenelon Falls Secondary School Falcons on Thursday, Oct. 14.

Haliburton's forward Jenna Dibblee had a career game, putting more than half the points on the scoreboard and dominating in rebounding, Dibblee added.

Junior Red Hawk forward Jessica Rider was called up for the game, replacing missing point guard Hillary Hawley. Forward Paige Roberts played guard to step in for Carly Shaw's absence due to concussion.

HHSS was leading after the first quarter, but lost the lead at halftime and were down 15-12 for FFSS.

With three minutes left in the game the score was tied at 18-18.

Haliburton's Dibblee and guard Maia O'Sullivan fouled out toward the end of the fourth.

The game's final score was 27-20 for the Falcons.

Create your own line-up by picking one player from each group of five players listed below. Carefully choose your players by circling the number which corresponds to him.

1. Each entrant must select one player from each group of five for a total of 16.
2. Limit of one entry per person, maximum four entries per household.
3. All entries must be completed fully on original clipped forms.
4. Contest runs over the regular NHL season. Playoffs are not included.
5. All winners agree to the use of his/her name, address and photograph for publicity.
6. Updates are made weekly. The decision of the judges are final in all matters.
7. By entering this contest, entrants acknowledge having read the rules and agree to be bound by them.
8. Players (skaters) will accumulate points for each of the following statistics accumulated during the 2010-11 regular season. One goal or one assist equals one point. Plus/Minus stats also count, either as a plus or a minus. Enforcers receive points as such: 1 penalty minute=1/4 point (ie. 10-minute penalty, 2.5 points). Add goals, assists, penalty minutes and plus/minus.
9. Goalies will accumulate points in the following manner: One win, two points. One tie, one point. One shutout, five points. One goal and/or one assist, two points.
10. Grand prize tiebreakers between two or more entries will be determined by: (a) most goals scored by all players; (b) most assists by all players; (c) most wins from all goalies.

Employees of The Echo and The Times may not enter.

(Near) perfect on pitch for Hawks

The following are Haliburton Highlands Secondary School sports briefs compiled by Judi Paul's class for the week of Oct. 13-18.

Tuesday, Oct. 12

The Varsity A field hockey team remains unbeaten this season as they defeated Adam Scott 6-0.

Special mention for midfielders Tara O'Sullivan, Brigitta Hicks and Jessica Bishop for their tremendous leadership.

The Varsity B field Hockey team celebrated two victories yesterday, defeating Bracebridge and Parry Sound.

Thursday, Oct. 14

The Varsity A field hockey team took on long-time rivals

North Hastings where intense play resulted in a 4-0 win for Haliburton. Excellent defensive play by Lily Coneybeare, Vicky Bukta, and Jessica Duchene.

Amazing goals by Jillian Mayhew, Lindsey Pogue and Grace Diezel. The Varsity B field hockey team played Bancroft, with the game ending in a 0-0 tie.

The senior Boys' soccer team travelled to Cannington to play the Brock High School Bulldogs.

Brett Yake scored a pair of goals for a first half lead; however, the Bulldogs tied it up in the second half for a final score of 2-2. The junior Red Hawks soccer team played extremely well against Brock High School, winning another dominating game.

Goal scorers were Tyler Nolan, Tanner Hamilton, Darcy Schmidt, Brad Wood, and Jake Harrison.

Learning from OFSAA

Darren Lum
Staff reporter

Red Hawks golfer Rob Lewis said he can play with the best after competing at the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations (OFSAA) provincial Golf Festival at the Barrie Country Club in Barrie last week.

The Grade 10 student is confident he will return to OFSAA and although he admits he was a little nervous on the opening day of the two-day competition, he said his placing would have been better if he played up to his potential and with more competitive experience he expects that to happen more often.

He shot 81 in the opening round and 84 on the final day, good enough for 64th overall in a field of 120.

Coach Paul Longo said Lewis didn't have his best game, challenged by the "lightning fast greens," which Lewis promises to work on until the next high school season.

Canadian golfing talent Brandon Ng won OFSAA for the second consecutive year by 10 strokes, dominating play.

Longo said Lewis has the potential to be as good as Ng in two years.

Storm season starts

The following are summaries of Highland Storm hockey games written by Dan Marsden, Paul Morissette and Suzanne Haedicke.

The Minden Car Quest Bantam C girls' hockey team defeated Ennismore Eagles Oct. 14 by a score of 6 to 0.

Connor Marsden had the shut out, Erin Little had two snipes along with Kenndal Marsden, Maddie Billings, Sydney Feir and Nicole Black all having single tallies. The Bantam C girls were on the road last week-end playing Cold Creek Saturday night and Lindsay Sunday afternoon.

Next home game is Oct. 24 against Ennismore in Minden at 6:30.

Peppermill Highland Storm Novice team off to good start

The Peppermill Novice Storm hockey team if off to an excellent start in the early stages of the 2010-2011 season. The team has a three win, one loss record in their first four league games and one win and a tie in exhibition play with Bancroft. The team lost their first game to Huntsville 6-1 but bounced back with three straight victories defeating Port Carling 5-3, Parry Sound 5-2 and Bracebridge 3-2. This year's squad features balanced scoring from forwards Mikki Bukta, Tyson Clements, Alex Little, Benn MacNaull, Zach Morissette and Paul Turner. The aggressive defensive corps is anchored by James Alexander, Ethan Glecoff, Ryan Hall and Issac Little. Backstopping the team between the pipes is the stellar goaltending provided by Nigel Smith. The coaching staff, consisting of head coach Jason Morissette, assistant coach Clay Glecoff, trainers Rich Smith and Mike Morissette and manager Paul Morissette, is confident that this group of young hockey players will continue to improve and provide excellent and exciting hockey as the season progresses. The team is on the road over the next few weeks and will play it's next two home games in Minden Oct. 28 at 6:30 against Bracebridge and on Oct. 30 at 9 against Huntsville. Come on out and support the boys.

Highland Storm Atom A – Weekend of Hockey

The Highland Storm Atom A team hosted Parry Sound over Thanksgiving weekend with three thrilling games. The excitement began in Minden on Friday, Oct. 8. Both teams came out flying, but despite a great team effort from the Storm, they chalked up their first 6-4 loss. Goals scored by Owen Gilbert, Nik Dollo and two goals by Owen (Smitty) Smith.

The assists came from Kyle Cooper, Josh Boice, Owen Smith, Lucas Haedicke and Devyn Prentice. The excitement continued in Haliburton on Saturday, Oct. 10 when the Storm was ready for the challenge. The team came together with exceptional saves by Josh Bellefleur and managed to bounce back, receiving their second tie of the season at 2-2.

Goals scored by Nolan Flood and Owen (Smitty) Smith. Assists came by Owen Gilbert and Nik Dollo. This boost of confidence shined in the last game on Saturday afternoon when the Storm took control. Both the offence and defense stepped up to achieve a well-deserved 4-2 win over Parry Sound. This puts them into second place with six points.

Storm Atom AE win three

➤ Pee wee AE split a pair of games on the weekend against the Bracebridge Bears and the Almaguin Devils

One win, one loss for Pee wee AE

Our first game of the weekend was on Friday, Oct. 15 in Baysville against the Bracebridge Bears. This was not a pretty game, our boys did not have their hockey heads on, so there seemed to be a lot of scrambling around. Despite this they managed to pull off a win of 8-0, another shutout for goalie, Parker Smolen. Goals going to Drew Van Lieshout (2), Ethan Cooper (2), Max MacNaull (2), Jake Bull, and Greg Crofts. Assists to Tim Burgess (2), Max MacNaull (2), Ethan Cooper (4), Greg Crofts (3) Josh Rowden, Reagan Casey and Drew Van Lieshout.

Our second game of the weekend was on Sunday, Oct. 17, in Minden against the Almaguin Devils and true to their name they gave our boys a "heck" of a time. With several wins under their belts the Storm boys were maybe feeling a little over confident, so the Devils gave our boys a wake-up call. It still took till the third period for our boys to get into true hockey mode, but by then it was too late. The win went to the Devils with a score of 7-2. Both the Storm goals were scored in the third period, one by Mac Rider (unassisted) and the other by Alex Wilbee assisted by Greg Crofts. We hope Max is feeling better and we all wish a speedy recovery to Pee wee A player Andrew Hall. Once again thanks to our sponsor Randy's Tree Care and Landscaping.

Also a thank you to our bench for their time, Mike MacNaull (coach), Kirk Cooper (manager), Wilf Van Lieshout (trainer) and Susan Burgess for organizing and take care of the gate and 50/50. We do not have a home game until Saturday Oct. 30 in Minden at 1 p.m.

Atom AE defeats Port Carling, Gravenhurst and Almaguin

The Atom AE Storm keeps thundering along, starting a three game stretch this weekend with a 7-1 victory over Port Carling in Minden on Thursday. The victory was an impressive display with most of the play locked in the opposition end.

EYES ON PRIZE

An Atom Highland Storm player pushes the puck, skating away from his check out of his own end during the third period against the Baltimore Ice Dogs in tournament round-robin play at the Dysart Arena on Saturday, Oct. 16. The storm won that game 6-1.

Sean Walker netted a hat-trick, Ben Schmidt had two and singles were counted by Bo Stevenson and Matthew Manning. Assists were attributed to Trevor Turner with three, Noah Black with a pair, and Ryan Prentice, Bo Stevenson, Cullen Johnston, Jesse Sisson with one each.

On Saturday, the team continued its thunderous rumble, shutting out Gravenhurst 6-0 in Rama. Carson Sisson made some great saves to ensure the shut-out. Goals were tallied by Matthew Manning who had two, Trevor Turner, Alexander Petrie, Ben Schmidt and Noah Black. Assists went to: Noah Black, Jaxson Campbell, Trevor Turner, Shawn Walker and Ben Schmidt.

And finally, Sunday's game was a little more rough-and-tumble but the home side still came out ahead, beating a speedy Almaguin squad, 10-4 in Minden.

Goals in this game were credited to Ben Schmidt who had five, Trevor Turner with two, Noah Black, Shawn Walker and Matthew Manning with one each. Assists were awarded to Shawn Walker, Ryan Prentice and Matthew Manning with three each, Ben Schmidt and Bo Stevenson.

Special thanks go to Floyd Hall Insurance for sponsoring the undefeated squad. Be sure to check their next game this Sunday at 1:30 in Haliburton as they take on Gravenhurst.

Bantam C girls remain undefeated

The Minden Car Quest Bantam girls' hockey team had a successful weekend. We travelled to Cold Creek on Saturday night to face the Comets in a tightly contested 3-2 win for the Storm. Erin Little had the game winner.

On Sunday, the Bantam C girls were back on the road to face off against the Lindsay Lynx in Oakwood for an afternoon tilt.

The team worked hard and supported Connor Marsden in a 4-0 shutout win to keep their early undefeated (go Maple Leafs) season in shape. Four single tallies went to Erin Little, Alex Litwin, Sydney Feir and Cassidy Garbutt - her first of the season.

Bantam C girls' next game is in Minden Sunday, Oct. 24 at 6:30 p.m.

October brings important cause to light for Children's Aid Society

Angelica Blenich
Staff reporter

This October, across Ontario, the association of Children's Aid Societies is launching a campaign titled "I am your children's aid," along with other initiatives.

Hugh Nicholson, director of the Kawartha-Haliburton society since 2003, recently visited Haliburton to discuss the campaign and the role the organization plays in a community such as Haliburton.

"Every October is child abuse prevention month," said Nicholson. "What we want to do is bring awareness to the public around the need to be alert to signs of child abuse and child neglect and to contact Children's Aid Societies and report those concerns to us."

We have a higher than average reporting rate, both provincially and regionally.

— Hugh Nicholson, Director, Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society

"Really the bottom line is if a person feels uneasy about the safety of a child, or that child's wellbeing in a given situation, that they get in touch with us and they discuss it with us."

According to Nicholson, the best way for a member of the public to refer a situation to Children's Aid is to call one of the three local offices located throughout the region.

"You can get the numbers for our offices either from the phone book or through our website," said Nicholson.

"When they do phone us we want specifics because we really are concerned about the safety of the child and we need information on that and then we review the situation with them."

According to Nicholson, the Kawartha-Haliburton society receives between 3,000 and 4,000 calls a year from people with concerns around the safety of children.

"We have a higher than average reporting rate, both provincially and regionally," said Nicholson. "Community members in all three counties seem to be concerned about their children and they seem to have trust in the CAS to contact us and to discuss those concerns with us."

"About a third of those calls result in an investigation. A good number of other calls could be information that would be important to us because we may already be involved with those families. Or they may be mental health issues, or supports parents need."

"What we would do is we would help those in need connect with services and work with those families for a short period of time."

"This really is a community with a concern about people in need and they're able to respond well and work well together."

To bring more attention to the subject of child abuse prevention and the services offered by the organization, Children's Aid has launched several provincial campaigns to help put a face to the cause.

"We're part of a broader campaign that's provincial titled 'Use your voice' and 'I am your children's aid,'" explained Nicholson. "In different forms of media we have people that are involved with child protection, whether it be workers, foster parents, or children that are in the system talk about their experiences, who they are and where they're going in life."

"We also have a brochure on our website about child abuse prevention. People can click on to our website, they can download the brochure, take a look at some of the signs of child abuse and how they can become involved," he said.

To find out more about the campaign and the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society visit www.khcas.on.ca. The Haliburton office can be reached at 457-1661.

Brief History

In 1874 Father F. Fitzpatrick conceived the idea of the first parish church located on Lot 5 and Concession 12 of Galway Township. The church was blessed by Bishop Jamot on January 12, 1883 and was dedicated to Our Lady of Immaculate Conception. On Easter Sunday night in 1930 the Church was destroyed by Fire and was never rebuilt. However, Father Patrick James Galvin had secured a specific piece of land for a new church near the Gull River. In 1910 Father Galvin opened the new red brick church in Kinmount. By May 24, 1910 the corner-stone was blessed and laid by Bishop R. A. O'Connor who presided at its official opening and blessing on October 26 of the same year. The church was dedicated to St. Patrick, the baptismal patron of the pastor.

Surprise 80th birthday party for Iris Freeman

West Guilford

Eleanor Cooper 754-2278

Iris Freeman and some of her family accompanied her on Oct. 16 to what Iris thought was a meeting at 11 a.m. at the Maple Lake United Church. Imagine her delight and surprise when she walked in to see more family there wishing her joyful birthday greetings!

Lots of hugs and kisses and the placing of a little tiara upon her neat-as-a-pin head. A buffet lunch had been prepared as well as the birthday cakes and goodies aplenty.

Guests kept coming till about 3 p.m. and all of us enjoyed congratulating the guest of honour and chatting with her fine family. Iris will not soon forget her 80th birthday and lots of pictures from busy cameras will be treasured over the years to remind her of the special occasion.

October will also be fondly remembered by Iris's daughter, Debra Lees, who opened her art studio at 1017 Eagle Lake Road on Oct. 2. Her gallery displays Debra's fine talent in portraiture as well as in landscapes, which absolutely delight the eye.

Her phone number, should you wish to contact her for a commission is 754-0198.

The local Baptist church men's breakfast on Saturday morning saw 20 in attendance to hear the speaker, Sandy Cairn, as well as to enjoy the good meal together. Prayer is a vital component of this monthly event and this time the meeting was opened by Christopher Chumbley's prayer and closed with David Swagerman's. Mystery man of the month was Keith Burns. Mr. Cair of Harcourt is the supervisor for CN Rail and trains engineers here and abroad for the demanding work of running the trains.

A Jack and Jill shower was held on Saturday evening at the Community Centre for Maryanne Harvey and Steve Davis who are planning to be wed on Nov. 20 of this year at Bonnie View Inn.

As to euchre - high scores went to Barbara Brownsberger and Ivan Kernohan. Low scores to Normal Geldis and George Milne and most lone hands to Colleen Davison and Leon Jones.

Manhunt madness hits Oct. 23

Wilberforce

Hilda Clark

Manhunt Madness hits Wilberforce on the evening of Saturday, Oct. 23. Ah, yes, the geocachers are at it again. Local enthusiasts for this high-tech treasure hunt have organized what they call an "event cache." So brush off your Dick Tracy detective badge, grab your GPS and make a B-line for Wilberforce for the fourth in an exciting series. We hear from Sticky Moose and Moonaloon that Gertie Gizzardstone from the last event is out for revenge after being dumped by Professor Hossenfeffer. So the manhunt is on for the professor. We hope the hunt is fun. (There will be no training in geocaching at this event.) Check with Mary Barker at 448-2211 for time and place for the start of the manhunt.

All ages of people are hitting the ice at the arena in Wilberforce. Last Saturday the place was busy all day with hockey. On Tuesday, Oct. 19 starting at 6 p.m. the Highlands East Recreational Figure Skating Club will hold registration and skating. Meet the new skating instructor who is Jennifer Knopp from the Bancroft Figure Skating Club. For information call Kathy Rogers at 448-3652 or Nancy Bird at 448-9699.

Giggles, Games and Ghosts is coming to the Wilberforce library on Saturday, Oct. 30 from 1 to 2 p.m.

Children from ages three to seven will enjoy playing with words, crafts, games and songs. And they will likely have time to pick up a book or two. Sounds like a lot of fun. We understand that event is sponsored by the Haliburton Highlands Writers' and Editors' Network and the R.D. Lawrence Place.

We have just recently become aware of the death of Ann (Webster) Smith of Bancroft. May we extend belated condolences to her husband Stewart and all of her family and friends. Ann died on Aug. 28 this year after a sudden decline in health. Many in this area will remember Ann and Stewart from their involvement in the newspaper field including the creation and operation of the Cardiff Courier community newspaper. A funeral service in thanksgiving for the life of Ann was held at St. John's Anglican Church Bancroft on Sept. 2.

The Wilberforce United Church people celebrated the 121st anniversary of their church on Sunday, Oct. 17.

The Wilberforce Agricultural Fair Society served about 200 Thanksgiving dinners on Oct. 9. Though the cooks were a little frustrated and slightly embarrassed that the turnips were so uncooperative, diners report the tasty meal was worth the short delay in being served. Thanks to all the volunteers who worked for this annual event.

The Wilberforce Curling Club registration and open house is on Tuesday, Oct. 19. From 7:30 to 9 p.m. enjoy wine and cheese, meet other curlers and sign up for the various leagues. Special rates for students and new curlers. Join the winter fun. Can't curl? Someone will teach you. Missed the party? Call Doug at 448-1411 or leave your registration form and payment at Agnew's.

The Wilberforce school newsletter indicates that a goodly number of their students recently participated in the cross-country races at a meet in Haliburton and also took part in the Terry Fox Run.

They celebrated the Fall Harvest with a special luncheon at the school on Friday, Oct. 15. (See page 24.)

The next planning meeting for the Wilberforce school's 100th anniversary will be Tuesday Oct. 26 at 4 p.m. at the school. 2011 is the big year. April 29 and 30 will be the days we celebrate.

At the school's open house on Sept. 28 the draw for the raffle of the paintings that were donated by artist and former Wilberforce school teacher Patricia Clarke.

Winners were Bessie Croft and Dan Linkert both of Wilberforce and Evelyn Keyes of Toronto.

The money raised will be used in support of the anniversary celebrations. Thanks to Pat and all who sold and bought tickets.

The rising tide of pool promoters
How a local committee is uniting the county around a year-round place to swim
Angela Blumch
Staff reporter

With the municipal election only a month away, one of the ongoing issues raised throughout the four separate municipalities is the need for an indoor swimming pool in Haliburton County. But some of the indoor swimming pools being brought to the attention of current municipal politicians along with election candidates by a new pool committee actually started in a... see POOL COMMITTEE page 5

Why join a book club?

Bessie's Books and other things
Bessie Sullivan
County Librarian

I had always been hesitant about book clubs, but to be a good sport I did join one that a friend of mine was trying to start. As it turns out the club's need my help, the book club is still going and that was about six years ago. I don't know why I thought I wouldn't like it because obviously I like to share my thoughts on what I read. Here are some of the reasons why book clubs can provide entertainment to your reading.

1. You will read books that you never would have picked up otherwise and sometimes you will love them.
The Solaris by Stanislaw Lem by Haver Kimmel has become one of my favorite books. It's really going for about 10 pages but having it as a book club selection forced me to persevere and I'm glad I did.

2. You will have points of view and perspectives that would never have occurred to you, especially if your book club is made up of people in a range of ages and his both.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

HANDY WORK VS RENT

QUESTION: I rent out apartments in a building I own. One prospective tenant has offered to do carpentry work and repair work in place of rent. Is this a good idea?

ANSWER: My advice is to stay away from it. Rent is rent and repairs are repairs. Don't mix the two. Any work performed should be compensated on a fee-for-service basis. If you accept services in lieu of rent, you may be asking for problems and misunderstandings.

When you buy rental property for investment, rent out to tenants who can afford to pay the rent in real money. Any other type of arrangement is risky.

WORK PERFORMED by a tenant should be paid for by the job, not as a substitute for rental payment.
